

They left their families to fight the war,
The brave, the good, the rich, the poor
For months on end away from home
Some fought in groups, some fought alone

All the armed forces worked closely together
They brought us to victory, we'll remember for ever
The fields of red poppies remind us
Those courageous, brave soldiers, we so sadly miss

We wear our poppies with pride
To remember those who died
Those men we will always remember
On Remembrance Day in November
